

Rights Changes Lure Votes

WASHINGTON (AP)—A package of compromise amendments aimed at chipping off the Southern civil rights filibuster gained more votes in separate party caucuses Tuesday, Democratic and Republican Senate leaders reported.

But GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said there is still an educational job to sell the package. He said he does not believe an attempt can be made before early June to halt the chain-talk on the Senate floor—now in its 59th day.

Exiles' Action Report Denied

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A report of the blowing up of six bridges in Cuba by anti-Castro raiders was confirmed and then denied Tuesday by spokesmen for the same exile group.

The original report of the bridge destruction by the Revolutionary Recovery Movement — MRR — came from Juan Amador Rodriguez on his "Newspaper of the Air," broadcast in Spanish over radio station WMIE of Miami.

The broadcast report was confirmed by Marcos Valdes, auxiliary press officer of the MRR, the same group which announced a combined commando guerrilla attack on a sugar mill in Pilon, Cuba, last week.

Clergy Urged To Fight Interests

BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa. (AP)—The Rev. Henry H. Nichols, pastor of James Memorial Methodist Church in Philadelphia on Tuesday urged churches to overcome their "vested interests" and fight for civil rights.

The Rev. Mr. Nichols spoke at the convention here of the Eastern Pennsylvania Synod of the Lutheran Church in America.

Referring to the Christian church in general, he said: "It is an indictment against the church that Christian people, though being faithful members of the church, have failed to do what is right because doing right would have threatened their interests."

Wider Baker Probe Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., made it clear Tuesday he will continue to fight for a broader investigation of the Bobby Baker case and wants Baker prosecuted for alleged "gross improprieties" while secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

Williams, who sponsored the resolution that set off the Baker probe, said he would support a new code of senatorial ethics proposed as a result of the investigation.

Kids Afloat In Leaky Boat

REDDY, Minn. (AP) — A mother told Tuesday how five little Indian children survived nearly 24 stormy hours adrift on Minnesota's largest lake in a leaky, overboarded boat.

One of the youngsters spent much of the time covering a leak with her body before the children, aged 5 to 12, were found safe Monday at the western edge of Lower Red Lake, about 20 miles from where the boat drifted away. They had pushed it into the lake to use as a swimming base.

Mrs. Gertrude Johnson, 32, mother of three of the children, said the youngsters were burned by sun and wind by day and pelted at night by a cold rain in a thunderstorm that threatened to capsize the craft.

Reds Rap US Over Aid

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union and the United States clashed in the U.N. Security Council on Tuesday over U.S. aid to South Vietnam, including President Johnson's request for $125 million more to spend on the war there.

Stock Market Dips Again

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market Tuesday went through its second straight session of fairly sharp decline, with some motors weak. Trading was slack once again.

The Dow Jones industrial average declined 4.03 to 517.28. This brought the average to within a whisper of the 510-515 area where some analysts say the list is likely to decline before finding enough new buying power to mount a good rally.

Gov. Wallace Loses But Boasts Of Total Votes

Runs Stronger Than In Wisconsin Race

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace staged the strongest of his raids against President Johnson on Tuesday night, but favorite son Sen. Daniel B. Brewster won Maryland's Democratic primary.

Capturing a far larger share of the vote than in his presidential preference races against Johnson stand-ins in Wisconsin and Indiana, Wallace claimed to defeat a victory for his cause.

But Brewster, who prevented a Wallace capture of Maryland's 48 delegates to the Democratic National Convention, declared, "We made the fight and we won and I'm happy."

And Maryland Republicans voted to send an uncommitted 20-vote delegation to the GOP National Convention, overruling a backer of Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Wallace was taking nearly 44 per cent of the Democratic vote as the returns rolled in.

He told 1,000 cheering campaign workers the showing means his opponents "can no longer dismiss opponents of this move toward states' rights by calling them bad names."

Wallace, who campaigned as a bitter foe of the Johnson civil rights program, made his most powerful showing in the Southern-oriented counties of Maryland's Eastern Shore.

Racial troubles have erupted into violence there. Wallace captured all nine counties on the Eastern Shore of Chesapeake Bay.

He ran well, too, in the tobacco-growing country of southern Maryland.

Brewster ran his best race in the heavily-populated Baltimore area, in Negro precincts and in the Washington, D. C., suburbs.

With 1,365 of 1,392 polling places reporting, the race stood this way:

Brewster: 257,033
Wallace: 206,570
Uncommitted delegation: 11,598

Andrew J. Easter, a perennial campaigner, 8,261
That gave Wallace 42.73 per cent of the Democratic vote—10 per cent above his best earlier showing, in the Wisconsin primary.

Brewster had 53.17 per cent. The "uncommitted" blank on the presidential preference ballot gave Maryland Democrats a chance to vote to send an uncommitted delegation to the Democratic National Convention.

Delegates will be chosen in state convention within the next 30 days.

JP Says Oswald Was 'A Loner'

DALLAS (AP)—The authority before whom accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald was arraigned said Tuesday no charge of conspiracy was filed against him because no evidence of conspiracy could be found.

"He was a loner," said the official, Justice of the Peace David L. Johnston.

Johnston said in an interview that he overheard an assistant district attorney and a police officer discussing whether a conspiracy to murder charge should be filed. But the justice of the peace said there was no evidence of a conspiracy. Only a murder charge was filed.

40 Mikes Bug U. S. Embassy

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 40 secret microphones were found in the American Embassy in Moscow when U.S. security men tore into walls of the building in April.

The State Department disclosed the find Tuesday and said a strong protest was delivered in Moscow Tuesday morning.

Officials said the microphones were imbedded 8 to 10 inches deep in the walls of the top three floors of the 10-story building, and had obviously been installed before the Soviets turned the building over for U.S. occupancy in 1952.

An investigation was launched to determine whether the Reds got any significant U.S. secrets in the dozen or more years the listening system was in operation.

The "bugging" devices were connected to small wooden tubes which ran close to the wall in various offices and apartments in the embassy building.

That allowed the sound from an estimated 10 to 15 feet within the room to reach the microphone without the mike being detected by normal detection devices.

The wires from the microphones led into one system which was hidden by the brick and mortar outside wall. The wires led the embassy building underground. State Department officials could not say where the wires led since their investigation could not go outside the U. S. building in Moscow.

The State Department officials said no special leak of secrets prompted their security men to tear down embassy walls in search of secret devices. Rather, they said, they had a continuing program of checks on possible security dangers and suspected some devices might be in the building.

"He was a loner," said the official, Justice of the Peace David L. Johnston.

Johnston said in an interview that he overheard an assistant district attorney and a police officer discussing whether a conspiracy to murder charge should be filed. But the justice of the peace said there was no evidence of a conspiracy. Only a murder charge was filed.

FORCED TO FLEE — Gen. Kong Le, commander of the Laotian neutralist forces in the Plaine des Jarres region of northern Laos, was forced to retreat southward with his troops when pro-Communist Pathet Lao troops overran his command post at Muong Phan.

U.S. Vows To Save Laos Neutrality

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States gave notice Tuesday it will take all necessary measures—short of direct military intervention—to preserve the neutrality of Laos.

State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey declared that aggressive military actions by Communist-led Pathet Lao and North Vietnamese forces in recent weeks have seriously threatened Premier Souvanna Phouma's government and the fabric of the Geneva agreements which guaranteed the neutrality of Laos.

McCloskey's comments were made as pro-Communists Pathet Lao troops consolidated their gains in Laos and the British government urged both Red China and the Soviet Union to help stop the fighting.

Western military observers in Laos said that except for a few pockets of neutralist resistance the pro-Red forces had seized effective control of the strategic Plaine des Jarres.

Privately, State Department officials said they were ruling out any U.S. military intervention in Laos. But officials said McCloskey seemed to leave the door open for whatever action is necessary.

Activity in recent days has been limited to a diplomatic effort to stop the fighting and restore stability, he said, but that does not preclude any other efforts which may be required.

He gave this reply when asked about the possibility of U. S. forces being sent to neighboring Thailand as was done in 1962 when a Communist drive threatened to reach the Mekong River frontier with Thailand.

There has been consideration given, it was learned on good authority, of a show of force by units of the U. S. 7th Fleet off the Gulf of Tonkin on the North Viet Nam coast.

Thailand's foreign minister, Thanat Khoman, sent a formal note to Britain and the Soviet Union earlier this month which declared that blatant violations of the Geneva agreement and the renewal of military activities by the Communist Pathet Lao "represent an imminent threat to the security of the Kingdom of Thailand which shares a long common border with Laos."

Britain Urges Reds To Halt Pathet Lao

LONDON (AP) — The British government has urged Red China, as well as the Soviet Union, to prevent pro-Communist Pathet Lao troops from overrunning Laos and plunging Southeast Asia into a grave crisis.

Expressing "serious concern" about Pathet Lao attacks on the Plaine des Jarres in north-central Laos, Foreign Secretary Richard A. Butler ordered the charge d'affaires, Terence Garvey, to discuss the deepening crisis with Peking authorities.

Britain's ambassador in Moscow, Sir Humphrey Trevelyan, has been consulting urgently with Soviet officials since Saturday.

The British move in Peking came as result of an initiative by U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk. It was part of a concerted diplomatic operation to win Red Chinese cooperation in stopping further military ventures by Pathet Lao forces. Red China makes no secret of its support for the Pathet Lao.

Red China has blamed the trouble in Laos, claiming Washington was behind a coup April 19 by dissident right-wing generals that led to a merger of rightist and neutralist forces. The United States has denounced the coup, fearing it would wreck the neutralist, Pathet Lao coalition regime.

Wench was arrested and placed on two year probation Feb. 2, 1962 in federal court in Scranton. At that time he was charged with failing to buy a $50 federal gambling stamp and failing to register as a gambler.

Blatt Trails By 171

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A credit of eight votes in the 63rd county to report complete and official votes, including absentee votes, Tuesday gave Justice Michael Musmanno a 171-vote edge over Genevieve Blatt for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

Lawrence was the latest of the state's 67 counties to be heard from. It gave Musmanno 4,822 votes, Miss Blatt 3,980, representing a net gain of eight for the state Supreme Court jurist.

Thus the margin remains extremely thin, considering that about 320,000 votes were cast for the rivals for the senatorial nomination.

The figures take in the full count, with absentee ballots in the 63 counties, and also the unofficial tabulations, with unchallenged absentee ballots, from Philadelphia, Lackawanna, Somerset and Washington counties.

In Lackawanna County progress was so slow that officials said it might take a week or more to complete an election board hearing on 442 challenged absentee ballots. The hearing started Monday.

Pending, meanwhile, is a petition, filed Monday in Dauphin County Court, in the interests of a Blatt victory. This action leaves the way open for a challenge should Musmanno be declared the winner. The court accepted the conditional challenge because Monday was the last day for filing protests growing out of the April 28 primary.

Compromise Candidate For Demos?

HARRISBURG (AP) — Democratic State Chairman Otis B. Morse said Tuesday night there has been talk among some party leaders about selecting a compromise candidate to run for the U. S. Senate in the Nov. 3 election.

The Democrats' two leading candidates in the April 28 primary — Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno and Genevieve Blatt — are running neck-and-neck in the vote count, still incomplete in some areas. Miss Blatt, state secretary of internal affairs, has served notice in court she will challenge the tabulation if Musmanno is certified the winner.

Morse was asked to comment on a published report that regardless of the winner, he or she may be asked to withdraw and a compromise candidate selected by party leaders to preserve unity in the general election. The Republican nominee is incumbent Sen. Hugh Scott.

"There is truth . . . to the story that some Democratic leaders have mentioned it," Morse said when reached at his home in York. "There has been some talk of it."

Dead Deer Called 'Health Hazard'

STROUDSBURG — The carcasses of 15 car-slaughtered deer piled in a wooded area off Rt. 209 between Bushkill and Dingmans Ferry are causing a health hazard.

William Shoemaker, Monroe-Pike County sanitarian who inspected the dead deer, said yesterday the bodies should be removed because they are a menace to public health.

Daniel McPeak, Pike County game warden, said the deer are piled in an area that has been used for years to dispose of deer killed by cars during the winter time.

Lodge-Rocky Team Logical To Scranton

Clark Urges Prodding For Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Ill., says "a great deal of public prodding" is needed to reform congressional procedures. And he doubts that "the congressional establishment" will be of any aid in restoring Congress to "vigorous, working, democratic health."

Clark's "ess, generally a re-statement and elaboration of his previous program for congressional reform," is embodied in a book titled "Congress: The Simple Branch," being published Wednesday by Harper & Row.

The Pennsylvania senator, now in his second term, calls for changes in the terms and times of electing members of Congress, more joint hearings by Senate and House committees to save time, use of electronic voting machines, easing of the House discharge rule, and Senate initiation of one-half of the annual appropriation bills.

"The most single desirable change in the present attitude of both houses," he writes, "would be passage of a concurrent resolution committing both houses to bring to a vote on its merits any legislative proposal on which the President requests prompt action within six months of the date his proposed legislation is sent down to Capitol Hill."

This would prevent committees from bottling up presidential proposals and, Clark claims, would do more than anything else "to bring the President and the Congress together on a program for the country."

Teachers End Utah Walkout

SALT LAKE CITY Utah (AP) — A two-day walkout by Utah teachers ended Tuesday, but the teachers voted at a mass meeting to refrain from signing contracts for the next school year unless certain demands were met.

The teachers voted overwhelmingly for a resolution that said "the two-day recess has dramatized the seriousness of the Utah school situation and the unity of Utah educators."

"We have made our point," the meeting was told that the National Education Association has imposed sanctions against Utah, asking its 902,000 members not to accept jobs in the state until the current crisis over school finances is resolved.

The resolution that ended the walkout—which had been 99 per cent effective—also said teachers would refrain from signing contracts for the 1964-65 school year until:

"1. Our legislature be given an opportunity in a special session to consider and act upon the question of an emergency — $6 million — appropriation for the 1964-65 school year, as recommended by the governor's school study committee.

"2. Another solution to the financial problems of the educational system which may be proposed" and ratified by the Utah Education Association membership.

One such solution mentioned in the resolution would be the shortening of the 1964-65 school year.

Nearly 9,000 Utah teachers jammed the Utah State Fairgrounds stadium.

Just before the meeting started a Salt Lake County "deputy sheriff served UEA officers with a restraining order prohibiting them from interfering with carrying out teacher contracts by Utah teachers.

UEA Executive Secretary John Evans, one of those served, said he would comply with the terms of the order, but declared: "The meeting will go on."

Evans delivered a blistering attack on Gov. George D. Clyde whose action in not calling a special session of the legislature to schools last week resulted in the two-day walkout by the teachers.

Evans said the governor's "shabby treatment of Utah public education smacks of the acts one might expect of a dictator."

The governor's school study committee last week recommended that he call a special session to appropriate $6 million for school needs. But the governor refused and said the committee had failed to prove an emergency need or suggest where the money would come from.

Virtually all Utah schools opened for classes during the walkout, but many closed again after teachers failed to show.

Parents and volunteers kept classes going in some schools.

State News Roundup

E.I. Halts 1 Sunday Train

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Public Utility Commission authorized the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad Tuesday to eliminate one of its three Sunday trains between Hoboken, N.J., and Scranton, effective June 7.

The commission said a railroad survey reported light use of the passenger service. It also noted that bus service, in addition to the two remaining trains is available between Stroudsburg and Scranton.

Commission regulations permit a railroad to discontinue a single-day train when patronage falls below specified levels and other means of service is available.

The PUC said the train to be eliminated leaves Hoboken at 4:30 p.m. and arrives in Scranton at 8 p.m., with stops at Stroudsburg, Cresco, Mt. Pocono, Pocono Summit and Tobyhanna.

$20,000 For JFK Library

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United Steelworkers Union said Tuesday it has turned over a $20,000 check to Mrs. John F. Kennedy as the first installment in the union's pledge of $402,424 for the John Fitzgerald Kennedy Library and the Eleanor Roosevelt Memorial Foundation.

Steelworkers' President David J. McDonald presented the check to the widow of the President at a reception in the home of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy Monday.

The check represented one of the largest contributions so far toward the $2 million authorized by the AFL-CIO to be raised among its affiliated unions for the library.

Races Reap Tax Dollars

HARRISBURG (AP) — Tax revenue from harness racing in Pennsylvania this year is running far ahead of the same period in 1963, the state Revenue Department reported Tuesday.

Tax collections for the first 32 days of racing at Liberty Bell Track, Philadelphia, as totaled $960,303—including $161,738 last week.

The total for the same period last year was $914,913.

Good Runs Of Shad, Alewives

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Jesse Malcolm, director of fishing and recreation for the Delaware River Basin Commission, reported this week exceptionally good runs of shad and alewives in the Delaware River where heavy rains of April have made conditions better than in many years.

Malcolm said the shad are coming in vast quantities and are generally very large. He added that there is a predominance of late shad.

The shad were late in arriving because of high water in the river and the cold spring. Very good catches were reported in the bay and lower river in April, and the shad have now reached their spawning ground in the upper river, Malcolm said.

Alewife herring continue heavy and anglers in the Trenton area of the river have landed literally tons of these fish by hook and line during the past week, Malcolm said.

Philly C of C Honors Blough

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Greater Philadelphia Tuesday night presented its 15th annual William Penn Award to Roger M. Blough, chairman of the United States Steel Corp., in recognition of better relations and understanding he helped establish between the White House and the nation's business community.

Scott Backs Toll Bridge

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., said Tuesday he supports a proposal by the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission to build a new $6 million toll on the Delaware River north of Philadelphia.

Scott originally withheld his support of the plan proposed last month.

It appeared the toll will be built near Tullytown in Bucks County on the Pennsylvania side and near Burlington and Trenton on the New Jersey side.

The commission, which operates bridges over the river, needs congressional approval to transfer profits from bridge tolls to pay off construction bonds.

Your Heart Has Nine Lives

Handicapping Your Heart: How To Figure Your Odds

By Alton Blakeslee and Jeremiah Stamler, M.D.

You own risks of getting a heart attack prematurely — before age 65 — can easily be measured.

The yardsticks exist, and they apply to you whether you are a butcher, clerk, executive, teacher, lawyer, farmer, government worker, banker—whatever your occupation.

For these figures have come from the laboratory of day-by-day living. They are collected in research on many thousands of persons in all types of jobs and careers in careful studies to learn exactly what habits and health conditions are making us such easy targets for heart attacks.

Here are some main yardsticks:

Blood cholesterol: Men with a high reading (25) in milligrams (higher) run three to six times the risk of low-normal cholesterol men.

Blood Pressure: High blood pressure means eight times greater risk.

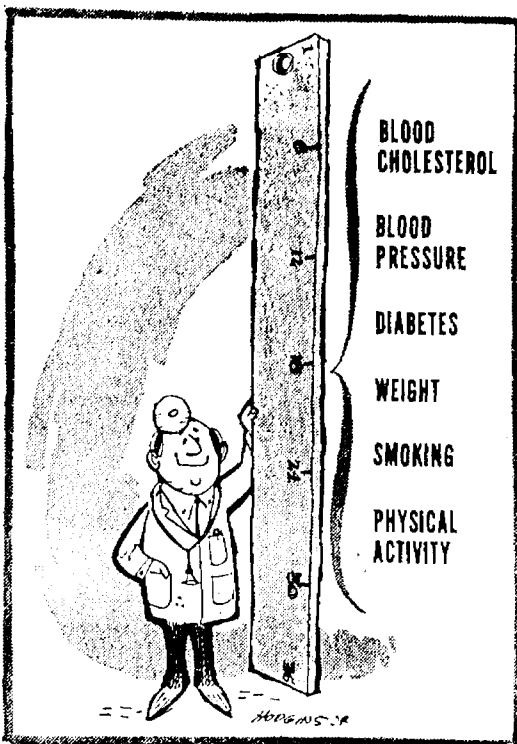

Weight: Extra pounds also make for extra risk.

Smoking: Cigarette smokers develop coronary disease at a rate three to six times greater than non-smokers.

Diabetes: In middle age, it boosts risk two to four times.

Physical inactivity: The sedentary man runs twice the risk of the active man.

In one study, men "entertaining" three members of the syndicate of heart killers were 30 times more likely to get heart attacks than the men with low-normal findings in these same respects.

And there is no immunity by virtue of your income, the place where you live, your type of job, or race. The shattering fact is that the syndrome spans the whole country, reaches out everywhere into all kinds of homes.

Heart disease ranks FIRST among the 10 leading causes of death in 12 of the most industrialized countries, the World Health Organization reports. These are Canada, the United States, West Germany, Denmark, Finland, France, Norway, the Netherlands, the United Kingdom, Sweden, Switzerland, and Australia.

Diet A Chief Factor But research recently has brought heartening signs that the artery rusting disease can be stopped or even reversed, for example through alterations in diet that reduce the intake of cholesterol and saturated or hard fats, and lower the blood cholesterol.

It has long been known that cholesterol, a natural and very essential chemical of life, is one of the ingredients in the mushy deposits or plaques that block arteries.

Atherosclerotic plaques now have been produced in almost every species of laboratory test animal — in the dog, the rat, pig, chicken, duck, pigeon, guinea pig, hamster and monkey — by feeding them high-fat, high-cholesterol diets.

Monkeys get heart attacks similar to those in men if fed a diet moderately high in fats and cholesterol. Some died suddenly from heart attacks.

The common denominator in these animal experiments was a change to a diet high in fat and cholesterol.

It is quite clear that what an animal or a person eats is not the sole cause of the artery disease. The underlying process can be made worse by other things, including obesity, a sedentary life, high blood pressure, cigarette smoking and other factors.

Looking for the key or primary causes, epidemiologists have roamed the world, comparing the mode of life of many different people.

Most American's eat so "well" that the suspicion has been growing ever stronger that many of us are gorging and lazily our way into heart attacks.

Our diet is rich, varied, fast, a delight and a comfort. Creeping obesity is one price we pay. Rather than an army of starving children, we have certain types of foods. Before we alter food habits, we must ask for convincing evidence that our diet really is part of the deadly coronary syndicate.

Prosperous Areas Suffer Some evidence does come mainly from scientists who have wondered why heart attacks should be so common in some lands, and rare in others.

The higher rate of atherosclerotic heart disease and higher blood cholesterol levels occur in the countries and cultures which are more advanced economically.

In these countries, the diets tend to be high in total calories, high in animal and saturated fats, high in cholesterol, and in "empty" calories from refined, processed foods.

Atherosclerotic heart disease is rare and blood cholesterol level is low in the underdeveloped countries. There, the diets usually are low in total calories, low in calories from animal fats, low in cholesterol and low in empty calories.

The epidemiologists found atherosclerosis in many countries among people consuming a high cholesterol, high-fat diet in the form of eggs, butter, milk, meats and animal products, generally.

They noticed class differences, too. The artery trouble appeared to be low among poor people whose mainstay was largely cereals. But it was relatively high among those in same country who could afford animal foods richer in saturated fats and cholesterol.

Economic status and what they could afford to eat made a difference among persons of the same ethnic group and race living in the same geographical and climate conditions. Race, ethnic origin, climate and geography are not significant factors as such. The mode of life is.

The food we consume over the years plays a part. And our average diet has changed considerably with in a half century or less. We are, in a large sense, also tending from the same stewpot now in the types of nutrients.

Unhappily, our type of diet is the one associated with high blood cholesterol levels, which in turn are linked with higher risk of atherosclerosis and heart attacks.

Rockefeller Takes Lead In California Polls

By Louis Harris

On the heels of his spectacular upset win in Oregon, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller has moved into a clear lead over Sen. Barry Goldwater in the June 2 California primary.

Just before the Oregon primary, Rockefeller trailed Goldwater 45 per cent to 55 per cent in California.

Today he has taken a lead of 57 per cent to 43 per cent.

The undecideds, however, have risen from 13 per cent to 17 per cent.

The Rockefeller gain has been scored almost wholly in the suburbs of Los Angeles where he trailed initially.

It was in the suburbs of Oregon that Rockefeller caught fire.

Of equal significance is a decline in the number of people who express concern over Rockefeller's divorce.

Steel Output On Increase

NEW YORK (AP) — Steel production last week totaled 2,503,000 net tons, the highest output in almost a year, the American Iron and Steel Institute said Monday.

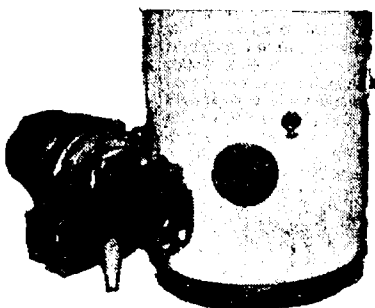

The figure was the highest since the week ended June 8, 1963, when output totaled 2,513,000 net tons.

In the week ended May 9, production was 2,492,000, also an 11-month high.

For the first 20 weeks of 1964, production totaled 46,506,000 or 4.6 per cent above the 44,451,000 produced in the same period of 1963.

$20,010,000 Spent On Car Upkeep By Countians

Special to the Record
NEW YORK — How much will Monroe County residents be spending this year on automobile repairs to the hinterlands?

With many local families planning vacations of this kind, the matter of just how much the trip will cost — for overnight lodging, for food and for gasoline — is entering the figuring stage, now that June is close at hand.

The American Automobile Association has come to the rescue with some estimates.

Krishna Raps Foreign Capital

BOMBAY, INDIA (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru's ruling Congress Party decided this week to continue leading India down the road to socialism while seeking help from foreign capitalists in paving the way.

Former Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon objected to foreign capital.

"They will take us over," Menon told a Congress Party conference here. "It's suicidal to import foreign capital."

Menon was removed from Nehru's cabinet in the fall of 1962, during the Red Chinese assault on northern border areas.

The party's policymaking All India Committee—which in effect is the government—endorsed increasing state control of business and industry while at the same time encouraging foreign nations and capitalists to finance attacks on the economic chaos gripping the nation.

Nehru stayed out of the debate on socialism, limiting himself in a rambling 25-minute speech to a reiteration of his offer to negotiate the border quarrel with Communist China.

U.S. Maj. Gen. Benjamin J. Webster announced here.

be able to get along comfortably on a daily budget of $31 for two people. This will take care of necessary spending on—

It is based on 300 miles of travel per day, with the car averaging 15 miles to the gallon of gas.

The AAA breaks down this budget as follows: $10.50 for meals and snacks, $11.00 for lodging, $7.00 for gas and oil, and $2.50 for tips and miscellaneous items.

Extra Spending
In addition, the couple will spend money for amusements, recreation, souvenirs and the like in an amount that will depend on their personal preferences, tastes and means.

Involved, also, in connection with the expense of a particular vacation trip is the question of how much it costs per year to own and operate a car.

Here, again, the AAA provides the answer. It finds that the average car in the middle-price range, operated at 10,000 miles a year, costs $1,162 annually, or 11.6 cents per mile.

In Monroe County, under this normal driving schedule and on the basis of the number of passenger cars in use, local residents are spending an estimated $20,010,000 a year.

The AAA study shows that a car costs $2.17 a day, or $792 a year, even if it just sits in the garage.

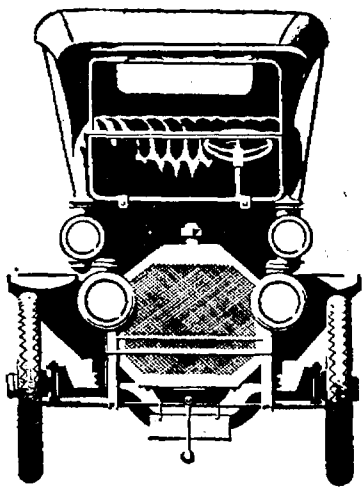

This is a fixed charge, the largest part of it being depreciation amounting to $621 a year. Property damage and liability insurance take another $117. The balance is for fire and theft insurance, registration and license fees.

The other costs — for gas, oil, tires and maintenance — amount to 3.7 cents a mile, or $370 for 10,000-mile operation. Gas stations in Monroe County have been benefiting from the increased amount of car travel. Their gross receipts for the past fiscal year reached $3,891,000, as against the previous year's $3,832,000.

Roger M. Blough, chairman of the board of directors and chief executive officer of United States Steel Corporation for the past nine years, will be the speaker during the ceremonies.

A former principal of the Hawley High School, which is now a part of the Wallenpaupack Jointure, Mr. Blough is a native of Riverside, near Johnstown. Born in 1904, he attended a one-grade school at Riverside; took preparatory and graduate work at Susquehanna University, Selingsgrove, from which he was graduated in 1925 with a degree of bachelor of arts.

He entered Yale Law School, where he was editor of the Yale Law Journal. He was graduated with a degree of bachelor of laws in 1931 and entered the firm of White and Case in New York City.

He became an associate counsel for United States Steel Corporation in 1939 when the Temporary National Economic Committee opened an investigation of the steel industry. In 1942, he was appointed general solicitor in charge of all legal matters for the company.

He became chairman of the board of directors and chief executive officer, succeeding Benjamin F. Fairless, in 1955.

He married Helen Decker, Hawley, in June, 1928. They have twin daughters, Jane and Judith, both of whom are married.

14 Honorary Degrees
Blough holds 14 honorary degrees, the first of which came from Susquehanna University in 1953, the degree of Doctor of Laws. He holds a similar degree from Baylor University, Washington and Jefferson, Trinity College, Rollins College, Syracuse University, Roanoke College, Gettysburg College, Allegheny College, Wartburg College. He holds the degree of Doctor of Commercial Science from University of Pittsburgh; Doctor of Civil Law, University of the South and Bucknell University; and Doctor of Humane Letters, Pace College.

Formal 4-District Appeals Still Informal, Litts Says

STRODSBURG — John Litts, Monroe County superintendent of schools, said yesterday that while he expects appeals from East Stroudsburg Borough and Eldred Township, the county school district has filed a formal appeal to the recently adopted four-district plan of reorganization.

Litts said June 3 is the deadline for filing appeals to the plan. He said after that date the plan will be sent to the Basic Council of Education — where it will receive automatic approval — and then to the State Board of Education, where any appeals would be considered.

The superintendent also said the county school board will meet Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. to discuss the possibility of a county vocational-technical training school.

Harold Albright of the University of Pennsylvania, who is the Department of Public Instruction's consultant in this area, will discuss vocational-technical training with county school directors.

East Stroudsburg Borough School Board has passed a resolution ordering its solicitor to file a formal appeal to the four-district plan.

Eldred Township, who has been opposed being included in any county school district, will meet tonight and, according to Mrs. Adan Bohner, a school director, will pass a resolution calling for an appeal to be filed.

Civil Rights Bill

The civil rights bill passed by the U.S. House of Representatives is now facing the longest filibuster in the history of the U.S. Senate.

It is the most important and controversial legislation in the Congress and perhaps the most misunderstood.

What does it require? Here is a synopsis of the bill prepared by Congressional Quarterly.

Title I—Voting Rights

In voting for federal elections, bar unequal application of voting registration requirements, denial of the right to vote because of errors or omissions on records of applications, if not material in determining voter eligibility, and the use of literacy tests not taken in writing, unless the applicant requests and state law permits oral literacy tests.

Make a sixth-grade education a rebuttable presumption of literacy.

Authorize the Attorney General to request three-judge federal courts to hear voting rights suits and direct federal courts to expedite voting suits.

Title II—Public Accommodations

Bar discrimination on grounds of race, color, religion or national origin in any public accommodation enumerated below, if discrimination or segregation in such an accommodation is "supported" by state laws or action, if lodgings are provided to transient guests or interstate travelers are served or if a substantial portion of the goods sold or entertainment presented moves in interstate commerce.

Covered are restaurants, cafeterias, lunch rooms, lunch counters, soda fountains, gasoline stations, motion picture houses, theaters, concert halls, sports arenas, stadiums, or any hotel, motel or lodging house except owner-occupied units with five or less rooms for rent (the so-called "Mrs. Murphy" clause).

Not specifically covered: barber shops, retail stores, places of amusement such as bowling alleys, or bona fide private clubs.

But any establishment within or containing an accommodation otherwise covered was brought under the terms of the title. Thus, a store with a lunch counter would be covered.

Permit anyone denied access to the accommodations covered to sue in court for preventive relief through civil injunction, and authorize the Attorney General to bring such a suit if the purposes of the title would be "materially furthered" by such action.

Title III—Public Facilities, Intervention in Civil Rights Suits

Upon written complaint of aggrieved individuals, permit Justice Department suits to secure desegregation of state or locally owned, operated or managed public facilities when the Attorney General certifies that the aggrieved persons are unable to initiate or maintain appropriate legal proceedings because of financial limitations or potential economic or other injury to themselves or their families.

Also, permit the Attorney General to intervene in already filed suits in the federal courts where persons have alleged deprivation of equal protection of the laws on account of race, color, religion or national origin. (This section was not limited to public facility cases.)

Title IV—Public Education

Require the U.S. Office of Education to report within two years on progress of school desegregation at all levels; authorize the Office to give technical and financial assistance, if requested, to local school systems in the process of desegregation, both through grants and loans; authorize the Attorney General to file suit for the desegregation of schools and colleges if he receives signed complaints and certifies that the aggrieved individuals are unable to initiate or maintain proper legal proceedings because of financial limitations or potential economic or other injury to themselves or their families.

Title V—Civil Rights Commission

Extend the Commission on Civil Rights for four years and broaden its powers so that it may function as a national clearing house on civil rights information.

Also give the Commission authority to investigate allegations that citizens

"are unlawfully being accorded or denied the right to vote, or to have their votes properly counted" in any federal election "as a result of any patterns or practice of fraud or discrimination in the conduct of such election."

Title VI—Federal Programs

Require each federal department or agency extending financial assistance to any program or activity through grants, loans or most kinds of contracts to take steps to prevent any program from excluding persons from benefits because of race, color or national origin.

Agencies must first seek voluntary compliance, but if it is not forthcoming, may cut off federal funds to discriminatory programs. Such action shall be subject to judicial review on applications of persons, state or local governments whose funds are cut off.

Title VII—Fair Employment

Establish a five-member Equal Employment Opportunity Commission with powers to prevent and eliminate discrimination in employment based on race, color, sex, religion or national origin on the part of employers, employment agencies or labor unions.

First year coverage (to begin one year after enactment of the bill) would apply to firms with 100 or more employees or labor unions with 100 or more members, with coverage gradually extended, after the third year, to all firms or unions with 25 employees or members.

Exempt religious groups, private clubs and state governments and their subdivisions but not the U. S. Employment Service and federally aided state and local employment services.

Authorize the Commission, upon receiving sworn complaints, to investigate and first seek compliance with fair employment practices through the use of "informal methods of conference, conciliation and persuasion."

If those fail, the Commission could seek an injunction in federal court to force compliance. It would have no enforcement authority itself.

Every employer, employment agency and labor organization subject to this section must keep "records relevant to the determination of whether unlawful employment practices have been or are being committed" and preserve records and make reports that the Commission shall prescribe by regulation or order, after public hearing.

Title VIII—Registration and Voting Statistics

Require the Census Bureau to gather registration and voting statistics based on race, color and national origin in such areas and to the extent recommended by the Civil Rights Commission, both on primary and general elections to the U. S. House since 1960.

Require such information on a nationwide scale in connection with the 1970 Census.

Title IX—Removal of Civil Rights Cases

Make reviewable in higher federal courts the action of federal courts in remanding a civil rights case to state courts.

Under current law, such a federal court order is not reviewable and the case must be disposed of in the state courts before it can again be appealed to the federal courts.)

Title X—Community Relations Service

Create a Community Relations Service within the Commerce Department to aid communities in resolving disputes relating to discriminatory practices based on race, color or national origin.

Authorize the Service to offer its services either on its own accord or in response to a request from a state or local official or other interested person. Limit its staff to a director and six aides.

Title XI—Miscellaneous

Provide that nothing in the law shall restrict existing powers of the Attorney General or other Government agencies; authorize appropriation of whatever sums are necessary to carry out the Act; provide that if one section of the Act is held invalid, the remainder of the Act shall not be affected thereby; the Act does not preempt and thus nullify state civil rights laws unless those laws are inconsistent with the purposes of the Act.

Oh, Beat the Drum Slowly; Play the Fife Lowly

The Pennsylvania Story

Bad Pruning Year

By Mason Denison

HARRISBURG—There used to be a time when a Governor submitted his budget to the Legislature with great fear and trepidation—knowing full well the thing was destined to be cut right and left by pruning legislative committees.

Those were the so-called "golden olden" days (for whatever that might be worth).

Those were the days when lawmakers, coming to Harrisburg and Capitol Hill only once every two years on their trusty steeds, rolled up their sleeves and with a smile and a knife, determined (graciously) to show the folks back home their full worth, their full importance.

Those were the days when they cut this and that from a gubernatorial budget with considerable trumpeting; smitten with an air of yeoman accomplishment — an air supposedly transferred and transmitted to the folks back home in the hushhushes.

Those were the days when a chief executive knew full well his budgetary monstrosity was destined to be hacked and whittled to death in a political show of might and main.

As a result, the luckless chief executive had no choice other than to beef up his budgetary pile—in full expectation of the legislative cuts and trimmings he knew were coming.

Well, much of this seems to have changed in recent years. Today there is a far different story to tell, one that indeed tickles the taxpayers' pocketbooks—for the coming fiscal year alone in Pennsylvania — to the tune of a billion bucks plus. Or just in case you have as much difficulty as we do in trying to visualize a billion bucks, it looks like this: $1,000,000,000.

The great "contemporary" trend in budgetary affairs seemingly is well illustrated in the case of the present Republican Scranton Administration fiscal monster now going through legislative rounds.

To begin with it should be noted that Mr. Scranton started out with a proposed budget for the coming fiscal year that is an all-time record-breaker.

For the past several weeks the joint House and Senate

Appropriations Committee has been going through its "screening" of the administration budget. It is the Appropriation Committee that is supposed to be doing some watch-dogging—the "people's checkpoint"—for the lawmakers, the "elected representatives" of the Keystone State citizenry.

These appropriation committees are the committees that in years of yore pruned and pruned, cut and cut from an administration budget.

What has happened this year? Well, you may find it hard to believe in light of history on this zany subject, but there is little evidence of anything approaching serious pruning. In the final analysis, it may even go up more!

Shades of a prune pit—what next?

Of course the point to bear in mind is that the legislative appropriations committees are controlled by gents of the same political faith as that of the Republican Scranton Administration—and it isn't likely that a step-child is going to say "no" to its parents, or the other way around.

Psychology In Reverse

(Editor's Note: A colleague has written an article that pertains to all of us. It should be given careful consideration. It would be an injustice to print only excerpts. Here is the workmanship of Jenkin Lloyd Jones, Editor of The Tulsa (Okla.) Tribune. It is entitled, "Who is Tampering with the Soul of America?")

FOURTH IN A SERIES

For all of their exaggerated attention to sin, their philosophy rested on a great granite rock. Man was the master of his soul. You didn't have to be bad. You could and should be better.

And if you wanted to escape the eternal fires you'd darn well better be.

In recent years all this has changed. In America, we have decided that sin is largely imaginary. We have become enamored with "behavioral psychology." This holds that a man is a product of his heredity and his environment, and his behavior to a large degree is forced, damned by both.

He is either the product of a happy combination of genes and chromosomes or an unhappy combination. He moves in an environment that will tend to make him good or that will tend to make him evil. He is just a chip tossed helplessly by forces beyond his control and, therefore, not responsible.

Well, the theory that misbehavior can be cured by pulling down the tenements and erecting in their places elaborate public housing is not holding water.

The crime rates continue to rise along with our outlays for social services.

We speak of the underprivileged. Yet the young men who swagger up and down the streets, boldly flaunting their gang symbols on their black jackets, are far more blessed in creature comforts, opportunities for advancement, and freedom from drugery than 90 per cent of the children of the world. We have sown the dragon's teeth of pseudoscientific sentimentality, and out of the ground has sprung the legion bearing switch-blade knives and bicycle chains.

Clearly something is missing. Could it be what the rest of the world's children have been given — the doctrine of individual responsibility?

Relief is gradually becoming an honorable career in America. It is a pretty fair life, if you have neither conscience or pride. The politicians will weep over you. The state will give mother a bonus for her illegitimate children, and if she neglects them sufficiently she can save enough out of her ADC (Aid to Dependent Children) payments to keep herself and her boy friend in wine and gin.

Nothing is your fault. And when the city fathers of a harassed community suggest that able bodied welfare clients might sweep the streets the "liberal" editorialists arise as one man and denounce them for their medieval cruelty.

I don't know how long Americans can stand this erosion of principle.

Nations are built by people capable of great energy and self-discipline.

The welfare state that takes away the rewards for responsible behavior so that it can remove the age-old penalties for irresponsible behavior is building a foundation of jelly.

It is time we stopped this elaborate pretense that there is no difference between the genuinely unfortunate and the mobs of ruffians who start throwing bottles every time the cops make a legitimate arrest.

The Allen-Scott Report

Cairo Curbs

Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — Military members of the U. S. embassy in Cairo are being subjected to an outrageous harassment.

Despite the fact that the U. S. has given President Gamal Nasser more than $892 million in economic aid in recent years, the military personnel of the U. S. embassy in Cairo are restricted to the immediate vicinity of the embassy.

The officers and enlisted men can't even travel freely about the city, to say nothing about the rest of the United Arab Republic.

In glaring contrast, the numerous military members of the Russian and other Iron Curtain embassies, including Cuba's, have complete freedom of movement. They can go anywhere and do anything, invariably traveling first-class and being treated with utmost deference.

The harshly restrictive Nasser policy toward U. S. military personnel has been accepted in silence by the U. S. government.

The State Department not only has not retaliated against this shocking affront, but hasn't even protested it. There is no known record of a single word of complaint being made to the blustering Egyptian dictator.

And in Washington, the sizable military staff of the UAR embassy goes about the capital and the U. S. without any restraints. They live and travel luxuriously, entertain frequently and lavishly, and enjoy the best the U. S. offers in comfort, pleasures and liberty.

These Nasser "military diplomats" never had it so good, and are making the most of it—in striking contrast to the studiously ignominious confinement imposed on their U. S. opposite numbers in Cairo.

Significantly, the UAR is the one Middle East country armed with the Soviets' powerful SA-2 high-level anti-aircraft missiles.

The UAR is one of only four countries definitely known to have these deadly weapons—the others being Cuba, Indonesia and Red China. Except in Cuba, where the SA-2 are still largely manned and controlled by Russian crews, the missiles are operated by native personnel in these countries.

Futile Appeasement — Senator Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, in bringing to light this shocking backstage situation, noted that approximately two-thirds — $575 million — of the $892.2 million given Nasser in economic aid has been extended in the past three years.

Further, that this aid is continuing. Last year it totaled $198.7 million, and so far this year is almost as large — in grain shipments, for which Nasser pays in his own currency, which remains in the UAR, and long-term loans at 4 1/2 per cent interest, with a moratorium on principal payment for the first ten years.

"In this manner," declared Gruening, "we have loaned Egypt immense sums, most of it since 1960. So far, $90 million has been repaid, most of it in Nasser's own currency which he is at liberty to print at will, and which remains in his country. Whether these loans will ever be all repaid, only time will tell."

"In the meanwhile, the thousands of American victims of the earthquake and tidal waves in Alaska are being required to pay 3 per cent interest on loans from the Small Business Administration, although the law permits the head of that agency to fix a lower rate down to the 1/2 of one per cent given foreigners. I have repeatedly urged the SBA administrator, who has the legal power to do so, to lower the interest rate charged Alaska disaster victims so they will be at least on a par with those to whom we make loans abroad."

"But, to date, these pleas have fallen on deaf ears. The SBA administrator appears determined to maintain this double standard of discrimination against our own disaster-stricken people."

Among the numerous long-term, low-interest loans given Nasser, the following were cited by Gruening:

Power plant in Cairo, $30 million, one of the principal functions of this plant is to provide power for a giant radio station Nasser has erected to broadcast warbreeding propaganda throughout the explosive Middle East; $34.5 million for diesel locomotives; $17 million for grain storage and handling facilities for the huge quantities of U. S. grain he is buying with his own currency that remains in the UAR, thus virtually giving it to him for nothing; $30 million for so-called "economic stabilization"; $6 million from the Industrial Development Bank; $6.9 million for a barge pulp mill and a canning plant.

Nothing that Premier Khrushchev has bestowed the two highest Soviet decorations on Nasser, Gruening caustically assailed State Department "appeasers" who consistently offer alibis and apologies for the turbulent UAR dictator.

"They say Nasser has matured, that he does not mean what he says, that he would not take a rash step," said Gruening. "Why not? There are many in the administration charged with the conduct of foreign affairs who refuse to face the facts of life."

"Nasser is playing the Communist game. He is the Kremlin's stooge just as surely as if he had proclaimed it as loudly as has Castro. Ample proof of that is Khrushchev's war threats in the UAR in recent days. The plain facts are that ever since Nasser adopted the policy of 'neutrality' in favor of Moscow he has been pursuing the Soviet line and espousing Soviet policy."

As clear evidence of that, Gruening cited Nasser's "bloody war of aggression in Yemen."

Dear Abby

You Did, Lady!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Could you please tell me if I did wrong? My son had a serious back operation last March. When he started to feel a little better, I brought a large stuffed rabbit (about 22 inches tall) to the hospital thinking it would cheer him up as it was during the Easter season. The rabbit did not look childish in my opinion. My son is 44 years old. He was embarrassed and insisted I take the rabbit home. Do you think this was a babyish gift or not?

LE MARS

DEAR LE MARS: Stuffed animals are usually for young children. (Most 44-year-old men prefer live bunnies.) A postoperative patient is in no mood to split his stitches over an Easter rabbit, so don't hold your son's lack of enthusiasm against him.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a mother who would put a diaper on a nine-year-old boy and make him parade around the school yard for punishment for wetting his bed? This lady must be cracked.

LIVES ACROSS THE STREET

DEAR LIVES: This woman is more than "cracked." She is cruel and ignorant. Bed-wetting is a symptom of an emotional problem, and to humiliate a child for wetting the bed will cure nothing and only compound the problem. I urge you to call on this neighbor (even if you know her slightly) and try to convince her to take her boy to a doctor and to heed his advice.

DEAR ABBY: I laughed when I read the letter from the woman whose child didn't look anything like her or her husband, which was a constant source of embarrassment to her. I went through the same thing many years ago. My hair was mousey brown and as straight as a poker. My husband's was dark brown — what there was of it. Our son

DEAR WIFE: It's time YOU went to the mat with your husband and pinned HIS ears back. Tell him to keep his hands off the girls, and then have a long talk with the girls about how young ladies should conduct themselves.

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., 90212. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Stories Behind Words

by William S. Penfield

Grog
The word "grog," a synonym for any intoxicating liquor, was coined by British sailors.

Edward Vernon was an 18th century British admiral who wore a program coat as he walked the deck of his ship during rough weather. Grogan was a material made of silk and mohair and stiffened with gum.

The sailors, among themselves, called Adm. Vernon "Old Grog" in reference to his coat.

In 1740, the admiral ordered that the sailors' daily ration of rum be diluted with water. Because the order was issued by "Old Grog," the sailors named the diluted rum "grog."

The meaning of the word was broadened to include any intoxicating liquor.

Williams - Kresge Fight Looms For County GOP Chairman

STROUDSBURG — Authoritative sources told the Daily Record last night B. K. (Ben) Williams of East Stroudsburg will challenge Harold Kresge for the chairmanship of the Republican county party at a showdown meeting of committee personnel tonight at 8 in the Stroud Township municipal building.

Williams, a former county chairman, is looked upon as the one man who can heal a rift in the party that has been apparent since last November's general election.

Kresge, who administers personnel in a six-county area for the highway department, has held the chairmanship since January when he was recognized by the county commissioners.

Unconfirmed reports indicated Williams had as high as 40 committee votes pledged to him. There are 70 GOP committeemen and women in the county.

However a spokesman for Kresge said he would be re-elected by a landslide vote. The spokesman said Kresge would get at least 50 votes.

No one in the anti-Kresge faction would comment last night on Williams' prospects. However, several persons who were contacted indicated they would support his candidacy.

Through its president, Atty. Edwin Krawitz, the county Young Republican Club — an organization which spoke out against Kresge earlier this year

724 Placed In Farm Jobs Locally

STROUDSBURG — An all-time high of 282,910 agricultural job placements were made through Pennsylvania's Bureau of Employment in 1963, John P. Dougherty, manager of the Stroudsburg BES Office, reported today.

At the same time, Dougherty announced that the local BES Office was able to find 724 jobs for farm workers last year. Of these, 690 were filled during September and October when farms in this area are busiest with harvesting of the Potato Crop.

Dougherty pointed out that the state's record number of farm placements, 9,031 higher than 1962 — the previous record year, was achieved despite adverse weather conditions. He said that farmers in some areas of the Commonwealth experienced a poor growing season and a disappointing harvest because of late spring freezes, summer droughts and early fall frosts.

"The Bureau is continuing its emphasis on utilizing the available local work force before migrant laborers," Dougherty asserted. "Last year's 25,000 seasonal farm workers, employed at the harvest's peak, included 18,000 Pennsylvania residents, 5,350 Southern migrants and 1,650 Puerto Ricans. School-age youths, housewives and unemployed industrial workers comprised with bulk of the resident seasonal farm employees. The 1964 outlook is for the employment of about 25,000 seasonal agricultural workers."

An increase in the number of day-haul programs was noted by Dougherty. He explained that under this plan local seasonal farm workers assemble each morning at a pre-designated spot and are transported, usually by bus or car pool, to the job sites. They are returned to the original meeting place at the end of the day.

"Day-haul has proved to be the most successful and effective means of mobilizing and directing the available local farm work force to local areas of labor need," Dougherty stated. "During 1963 thousands of workers participated in the day-haul programs organized in 102 communities. Special school-age youth day-hauls were operated successfully in 11 communities. At the peak of the harvest season as many as 5,500 workers commuted daily to farm jobs through BES sponsored day-haul programs."

Large City Magnet Declaring that good agricultural workers can be found in the city as well as in rural areas, Dougherty pointed out that many metropolitan areas, Philadelphia, recruited seasonal farm laborers for day-haul and (or) live-in jobs in Pennsylvania and nearby areas in New Jersey. Live-in jobs also were filled in Connecticut, Massachusetts, North Carolina and Maryland by Pennsylvania residents recruited through the Bureau.

To make the more than a quarter million placements in farm jobs throughout the Commonwealth, the Bureau's Farm Labor Service increased its field visits to farm employers from 9,810 in 1962 to 12,345 in 1963.

Power In State Circles Williams, a power in state Republican circles for years, has been semi-retired from active participation in politics of late.

The local businessman who resides at Devil's Hole near Henryville has been a confidante for such state figures as former U.S. Sen. Jim Duff, former Gov. John S. Fine, U. S. Sen. Edward Martin and collaborated with Northampton County's ex-GOP chairman, Kenneth F. Kressler in pushing Harrisburg focus on the State Belt and Pocono Mountains regions.

Kresge, who acts as Gov. William Scranton's liaison man for county patronage, is highly regarded in Harrisburg for his active part in piling up a large GOP majority in the county when Scranton ran for governor in 1960.

He also is credited with producing a winning county vote for Robert Bartlett, who was unsuccessful in his race for Congress with Democrat Fred B. Rooney.

Kresge was unavailable for comment last night.

STROUDSBURG — Postmasters of area post offices are placing forms in mail boxes of rural, city mounted patterns, and box delivery star routes to encourage examination and improvement, if necessary, to all boxes during Mailbox Improvement Week, which ends Saturday.

Mailboxes meeting these requirements contribute to a more efficient delivery operation and, therefore, result in improved service to the entire route.

Fred Rhodes, postmaster at Stroudsburg added, "Mailboxes on rural and star routes must be located on the right-hand side of the road in the direction of the carrier wherever it would be dangerous to serve the boxes on the left, or where this would be a violation of state and local traffic laws or regulations."

Just Between Us —

Instant weather reports undoubtedly save lives and property damage. They also make a lot of people jittery who in the older days wouldn't have thought anything of a few clouds and a little wind.

Outside of winding up the car windows after supper, I wasn't paying much attention until somebody called to ask if the tornado was expected to hit this area. When the answer was "Yes between 7:30 and 9," I couldn't tear my eyes away from the window with the black cloud with the apricot ruffle around the edge and the trees waving away.

When finally the stars came out, I got back to work. There was certainly enough news to work on, and all good. Well, almost all good. It was inevitable but still sort of sad to hear that the East Stroudsburg High School Alumni banquet, which dates back to even before my time, has been canceled for this year.

It is the last of the big banquets. Stroudsburg High gave theirs up 20 years or more ago. Pocono, Barrett, Tohyanna, Hamilton, Coolbaugh, Chestnut Hill have ceased to exist as separate high schools, although Hamilton has had some highly successful alumni banquets of recent years.

Their secret of success is that there were so few classes to graduate that a banquet can be small enough for conversation, for reminiscences and knowing everybody there. The penalty of bigness is that eventually there get to be too many people, too much confusion, too many strangers, and the next year alumni start staying home, or planning class reunions to try to recapture the personal satisfaction of earlier years.

There are many advantages in increasing size and numbers, I suppose, and today's children will never miss what they never had — class sleigh rides, Sunday school picnics where everybody came, block dances with soap chips to make the brick pavement slippery, club meetings held in people's homes, being a brand new alumnus at an alumni banquet.

ES Alumni Banquet Canceled

East Stroudsburg — Lack of interest has led the committee in charge of the East Stroudsburg High School Alumni banquet to cancel plans for this year's affair. After reaching a peak when it was almost too big, the numbers attending the banquets have dwindled each year, and this year the response was even less.

The officers are now working on long-range plans for next year when they hope to revive the banquet in force and then perhaps schedule it for five year intervals to keep the interest higher.

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

This is an age of great changes... not just scientifically, but morally and spiritually. Religions that have stood steadfast for many years on certain basic laws are gradually revising their thinking. Sometimes this is difficult to accept; in other cases it is profoundly desirable.

One case in point is the comparatively new position of importance held in the Jewish congregation by the Jewish girl. At one time, women had a decidedly secondary position in the Temple, but this is no longer true. Today we see Bas Mitzvahs marking a girl's "coming of age" as we have seen Bar Mitzvahs in the past... and these are times not only of solemnity, but also of proud rejoicing.

It was my pleasure this past Friday evening to be among several hundred persons, both Jewish and gentile, who took part in the confirmation of Ruthie Jacobson, Susan Steinberg and Susan Zager... and it was most interesting. For months these girls have been studying Hebrew faithfully, and learning to chant their Biblical readings. Much of this must be memorized completely as it is not written down for anyone to follow, and I understand that many of the parents themselves are not able to participate in the service as actively as their children can.

The new Temple is a beautiful house of worship, with paneled walls that glide open to accommodate the many guests that join the congregation for special ceremonies. I had been told that, as at services of the Catholic and most Protestant churches, I would be expected to wear a hat. I did, of course, and saw that a prayer scarf would have been equally appropriate. A number of the young Jewish girls were wearing the attractive lace mantillas which are so very becoming to almost everyone, and I also noted a few of the tiny lace chapel caps, which retail for something like 1.00 in our Accessories Department.

In our millinery department we have just received a new shipment of triangular scarfs, some of them of rayon lace, others of nylon. They are imported from Spain, I believe, and one style is scalloped in a manner that is extremely flattering in the way it cascades around face and shoulders. These are 5.00. There are others in a wide variety of prices.

The reception which followed was great fun, because EVERYONE was there... and there were tables, and tables, and more tables filled with delectable food... everything from gefulte fish to the most wonderfully fattening pastries any calorie ever got lost in!

For the three girls who were confirmed, it was a memorable occasion. It was equally so, to the many friends who gathered to share their joy, and to wish them the happiness of faith through all the years ahead.

WHAT IS 1050 AT WYCKOFF'S? See for yourself by visiting our Keystone Room bright and early tomorrow. It's too good to miss... too stupendous to overlook... too terrific an event to ignore. Come in early. Nine thirty, perhaps. Or ten. Even ten-fifty might be a good hour... but hurry, because EVERY MINUTE COUNTS at a time like this.

Time For Pleasant Thoughts

By LINDA TIPHER
Daily Record Home Economist
Stroudsburg — When I was a little girl and had to do something unpleasant as go to the dentist, my mother would tell me to just sit in the chair and think pleasant thoughts. She drilled this into me so much that I find I still do it when I am forced to do something I would rather not be doing.

Like ironing, I admit it is one of the necessary household chores I dislike and therefore I will tend to put it on the bottom of the list of things to do. Instead of ironing a basket at a time, I am more apt to iron as things are needed, all the time thinking pleasant thoughts.

But it has its repercussions. While I was getting breakfast yesterday morning I heard a groan from the bedroom (it was really more like a roar) and I rushed upstairs to find out what the matter was. Bill flung the one shirt in his closet at me and I indignantly asked what was wrong with it. Thinking he should be grateful there was a shirt there! As I turned it around assuming a button must be missing (another weakness) I found it neatly ironed — except for one whole sleeve which hadn't been touched.

Apparently I had been thinking too many pleasant thoughts, but there are times in the life of a homemaker when routine duties get monotonous. Which includes cooking, so we're always on the lookout for recipes that free us from standing over the stove or ones that are quickies. Sarah Ann Blakeslee sent me a good recipe for a swiss steak that, as she says, leaves time for hugging the baby.

Sarah Ann's Swiss Steak
And Vegetables
Pound $\frac{1}{2}$ cup flour and a dash of pepper into 1 pound round steak ($\frac{1}{4}$ inch thick). Brown in 2 tablespoons shortening in an oven proof skillet. Add:

Barrett PTA Officers Are Elected, Band Entertains

Canadensis — Election of officers and elementary band music formed the centers of interest for the recent meeting of the Barrett Elementary PTA at the school.

Mrs. Charles Peterson was elected president for the 1964-1965 term. Fellow officers are Mrs. Marvin Rosen, vice president; Mrs. Donald Russell, recording secretary; Mrs. Donald Gibbons, corresponding secretary, and John Sengle, treasurer.

Entertainment for the meeting was presented by Russell Speicher, director of the Pocono Mountain Joint Schools elementary bands. He led more than 30 members of the Barrett Elementary School band through six numbers.

Featured during the concert were "America" and "Safari". Youngsters with solo portions were Peggy Wallingford, saxophone; Jane Evans, baritone horn and Sonya Melnikoff and Jeanne Gibbons, a flute duet. The concert closed with emphasis on the trumpet section and the selection, "Trumpeters Salute."

During the business session, Mrs. Vernon Murray opened proceedings with devotions. Mrs. Ernest LaBar presided at the election of officers.

The attendance award was made to Joseph Ofall's sixth grade class. Members of Mrs. Geer's fourth grade were commended for their art work in making name tags for guests.

Mrs. Albert Goll reported that the sale of United States Savings Stamps will continue until school closes. During the month of April she sold 1,678 stamps to the children at the post which is open every Wednesday noon. The association voted to present candidates for the position of school director every two years, regardless of political affiliation.

Honoring the teachers, the group subscribed to the PTA magazine for one year for each teacher in the school.

A recorded message was heard given by Mrs. Margaret Jennings, president of the national association, in which she urged that delegates be sent to the national convention in Chicago.

"The problems and issues," she said, "to be discussed, are the same throughout the country." The convention will be held May 24 through 27.

Five Area Creeks Stocked

STROUDSBURG — Five area creeks have been stocked with trout for the second time around, Jim Hazen, Monroe County Fish Warden, announced.

Pocono Creek in Stroudsburg; Middel and Doltz Creek in Kresgeville have been stocked. Also, Buckawa and Aquashicola Creek in the Kunkletown area have been stocked, Hazen said.

He reported that each of the streams have been stocked with a variety of brook, brown and rainbow trout.

Hazen noted that the shad are still running in the Delaware, especially around the Bushkill area.

Small Home Destroyed By Brush Fire

BANGOR — An untended brush fire destroyed a frame building of a Slate Belt family over the weekend.

The building had been used as a storage shed and bathroom.

Damage to the building and its contents, consisting of lawn furnishings and home swimming pool equipment, was estimated at $1,500 by the owner, Matthew Caserio. The building was about 150 feet from the Caserio residence along the Roseto-West Bangor Road in Washington Twp.

Firemen and equipment from the Liberty Fire Co. of Bangor, summoned shortly before 5 p.m. through a call to the Blue Mountain Control Center, were on the scene for nearly an hour. They pulled down the charred remains of the building.

Caserio told Bangor Fire Chief Benjamin Albert that members of his family had been burning rubbish in the afternoon. In the belief that the trash fire had burned itself out the family left home for about half an hour.

They discovered on returning the fire had spread about 100 feet across a grassy area and had set the building ablaze.

Caserio said the loss was covered by insurance.

Dog Owners Warned

STROUDSBURG — Stroud Twp. Chief of Police H. W. Tebbis and Walter Bensley, dog officer, of Bushkill, yesterday issued a joint statement warning dog owners in the township.

Tebbis said that during the past weekend several dogs killed rabbits, sheep and chickens in the Mt. Zion area.

He added, "There is an ordinance in the township, as well as the state law, which says that dog owners must keep their dogs under control at all times and that dogs are not allowed to run at large. The ordinance authorized a $5 fine plus costs for offenders."

Bensley said the state law requires the same but that the fine can range upwards to $100 plus costs.

Both men said they would enforce the laws and make arrests.

Set Meeting

STROUDSBURG — Monroe County Women's Bowling Assn. will hold its annual meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Monroe County YMCA, Stroudsburg.

Highlighting the meeting will be the presentation of trophies from the tournament and the past season.

Masons Honor Hamblin

SWIFTWATER — Harry T. Hamblin was recently presented the 50-year Masonic service pin at Pocono Lodge 780 F&AM in Swiftwater. Theodore Hatter, District Deputy Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania made the presentation.

The 50-year service pin has been awarded to only four other members.

Hamblin was designated to the degree of Master Mason on May 27, 1930 at the J. Simpson Africa Lodge in East Stroudsburg. He has been active in lodge work most of his life. In 1928 he headed the Africa lodge as its worshipful master.

Hamblin is a retired Monroe County School teacher and is Associate Judge of Monroe County court. He and his wife, Lillian live in Swiftwater. They have two married daughters.

The only tomb of an unknown soldier of the Revolutionary War is located in Pennsylvania. The site is the Single Brethrens Home at Bethlehem, Penna.

The "Hot Water War" occurred during Fries Rebellion in 1798 when angry housewives threw boiling water on Federal agents. The rebellion occurred in the Pennsylvania Dutch Section where resentment ran high against an unpopular new tax on window panes.

Chamber Group Opposes Mass Transit Subsidy Bill

STROUDSBURG — The legislative committee of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce last week opposed the urban mass transit subsidy bill now in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Joseph Lisicky, chairman of the committee, said the committee felt federal subsidies to urban transit systems would mushroom into billions of dollars in a few years.

He said it was unjust for the whole nation to pay the bill for transportation problems of the big cities.

The Urban Transportation Act passed by the Senate in April, 1963, and lying in the House Rules Committee ever since would authorize $375 million in outright grants over three years, with only $75 million in this fiscal year, and include a $375 million municipal bond guarantee program.

The House version calls for $500 million in subsidies and no bond guarantees.

"We get too used to thinking of the federal government as Santa Claus with money bags for pockets. Too many people think $500 million is just a drop in the bucket and don't care enough to oppose such legislation," Lisicky said.

Ship Burns, 10 Sought

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Planes and ships searched Monday for 10 persons missing in a fire aboard a freighter off Baja California. There was hope the 10 were still on the vessel.

The Coast Guard said 45 survivors from the 450-foot Norwegian freighter Sandanger had been taken aboard the German freighter Bodenstein and were expected to be returned here early Tuesday.

The Coast Guard said information from the remote scene, 400 miles southeast of Long Beach and 20 miles off the Mexican coast, was sketchy because of poor radio communications.

There was no word as to whether any of the rescue vessels in the area had boarded the Sandanger to search for the missing 10.

Tipsy Charges Face 2 Men were committed to Monroe County Jail last night on charges of public intoxication. The charges were made by Stroudsburg police.

The men are William Overfield, 63, of the American House, Stroudsburg. The second man was identified by a social security card in his wallet as Bernhard Stowski.

They will be given a hearing later before Justice of the Peace Floyd Kellogg of Stroudsburg.

Nix Trades For Hornung

Clay: Floyd Next

ACCRA, Ghana (AP)—World heavyweight champion Cassius Clay says the little voice that tells him when an opponent will fall now tells him his next rival will be ex-champion Floyd Patterson.

Clay said, however, that he doesn't always listen to the little voice.

"He'll fall in round one," the voice says. "If you don't get him in one, make it two," Clay added.

At a press conference at the Ghana Press Club, Clay said rather more seriously that he would defend his title early next year because of United States taxation and that he would welcome an arrangement enabling him to defend the title in Ghana but he didn't know his next opponent.

Position of Negroes
Clay added comments about the position of Negroes in America, compared to those in Ghana, on the Black Muslim movement which he has joined.

To a question about defending his title, Clay said, "When you think of taxes eating up 93 cents out of every dollar, then it should be just once a year."

Asked what he thought about a separate black state in America, Clay replied:

Bulletin

NEW YORK (AP)—The Minnesota Twins exploded for five runs in the 13th inning with Jimmie Hall's three-run homer the key blow and defeated the New York Yankees 7-2 in a four-hour marathon game Tuesday night.

Lennie Green, batting for Minnesota starter Jim Roland, started the 13th inning rally with a one-out walk off Yankee reliever Hal Reniff. Zoilo Velazquez singled and Richie Rollins doubled to break the tie. After Bob Allison's sacrifice fly delivered another run, Hall's shot into the right field seats wrapped it up.

The runs were the first Reniff had allowed after 181-3 innings of scoreless relief this season. Minnesota he said it again Tuesday with emphasis.

"We are not finished trading," said Lombardi, who shook up his club by swapping center Jim Ringo and all-back Earl Gros to Philadelphia for line-backer Lee Roy Caffey. "There is a chance we will make some more deals."

"But we will not trade Hornung. Paul means too much to his team and to his coaches. He has leadership ability and he has a lot of things."

"Fine Young Boy"
"Paul is a fine young boy. When he got into trouble he proved his caliber. He kept his mouth shut and took it. He must prove himself a man. He must condition himself mentally to some of the things the fans might say to him."

Hornung, suspended a year for betting on football games, is working out daily at Green Bay, running up and down the steps of City Stadium.

"Paul will be in superb physical condition," said Lombardi. "He must condition himself to physical contact. It is a difficult problem for any athlete who is out of action for a whole year. But this boy has something to prove to everybody, not just to himself."

Lombardi, optimistic about his draft choices, said, "I feel I will be going to camp with the best group of young men I ever had."

"The Packer coach said he had no doubts of dealing for a center and expected Bob Skoronski, an alternate tackle last year, to take over Ringo's old job."

The Packer coach revealed that quarterback John Roach had retired.

"The NFL opened its formal meetings Tuesday. A proposal to set up a sixth official to be known as timekeeper, was withdrawn."

A seven-man delegation was named to attend the funeral Wednesday of Steve Owen, longtime coach of the New York Giants who died in upstate New York on Sunday.

Honesdale Bows To PM Golfers

BUCK HILL — Pocono Mountain's golfers yesterday chalked up their fifth win in six matches by handling Honesdale an 11-3-1/2 loss.

Ted Price was top medalist for the winners with an 81. Other Cardinal medalists were Alan Young 98, Roebing Gravel 95, and Wade Mikels 90. Mike Campbell of Pocono Mountain lost by forfeit.

Coates Wins

EAST STROUDSBURG — Coates nipped Kulp's by a 2-1 margin yesterday in an Industrial Softball League contest.

All the scoring came in the second inning when Kulp's gained a momentary 1-0 lead in the top half of the frame only to lose it when the winners came up with two markers in the bottom of the same round.

Giants' McCovey Fights Gigantic Batting Slump

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—You might call Willie McCovey the most feared .186 hitter in baseball today yet that won't make him any happier.

For Willie, like most of the San Francisco Giants, finds himself gripped in a batting slump. True, he's over his homer pace of 1963, when he tied Hank Aaron for the National League leadership at 41, but big Willie isn't getting his usual share of line drive base blows.

McCovey remains as mystified as anybody over the failures. He has 19 hits in 102 times at bat including seven home runs, a triple and four doubles. Last season in his first 103 times at bat he had five homers but 31 total hits.

"I just don't know," Willie says seriously and that sentiment might be echoed by all the other Giants who aren't hitting well. That includes all but Willie Mays and rookie Jesus Alou although even they have fallen off in recent days.

Even with the team hitting just .230, not including the pitchers, the Giants were only percentage points out of first place as they headed Tuesday night into their three-game series with the leading Philadelphia Phils.

"They're better hitters than this," commented Manager Alvin Dark. "They'll start hitting. And there won't be any extra batting practice we need."

Unconscious Letdown
Dark believes perhaps there has been an unconscious letdown on his club that belted the baseball all over Arizona in the Cactus League spring exhibition series. Cepeda hit .433, Mays .422 and McCovey .419 in those spring games.

"Spring training is a long time," said Dark. "After the training is over I think there is an automatic mental letdown." Mays hasn't let down as he belted his way to the best start in his career which dates back to 1951. He is hitting .407. No one else on the club is over .300.

Nazareth Routs Eastburg, 11-0

EAST STROUDSBURG — Nazareth scored five runs in the first inning to coast to an 11-0 victory over East Stroudsburg yesterday in a Lehigh-Northampton League contest.

The visiting Blue Eagles hit four singles, drew two walks and took advantage of an Eastburg error to sew up the game in the first round while also chasing starting pitcher Monty Perfetti from the mound.

Nazareth upped the count to 7-0 in the fourth frame on a pair of walks, an RBI single and a double steal.

In the sixth, the Eagles tallied three more on an error, a walk, a double and two singles.

Two errors and a single produced an unearned for the visitors in the final frame to close out the scoring in the game.

Nazareth pitcher Glen Gold pitched both games against the Cavaliers this season and did not allow a run in 13 and one-third innings. He yielded but eight hits in the two games, walked seven and struck out 23. Only nine balls were hit out of the infield.

He also batted 4-for-9, scored three runs and contributed four RBIs.

Knights Lose, 9 To 8

HELLETTOWN — The Green Knights of Pen Argyl yesterday suffered their first Lehigh-Northampton League defeat — and ninth of the season — as Helleltown gained a 9-8 decision with a three-run burst in the top of the seventh.

Pen Argyl took the field for the last inning with a 7-6 edge but quickly saw the lead vanish as a walk, single, and sacrifice was followed by a two-run double by Dennis Ray. An error allowed what proved to be the winning run crossed the plate to end Helleltown's last-ditch fight.

Dom Tanzella held the big stick for the losers with three hits in four trips, including a double, which drove across three of Pen Argyl's tallies, Ray Nottle and Dave Black each collected two hits.

Wilson Borough struck out 11 batters to increase his seasonal K-total to 59 while Dutt and Parsons each homered 1 to account for all the scoring in the game.

The triumph gave Coach Louis Guida's club an 8-0-1 league record to clinch the northern title while the overall mark was increased to 9-1-1.

Lobb, who now has an incredible 0.80 earned run average, has allowed but one run in his last 35 innings. The victory was his fifth against no defeats.

Dutt broke a scoreless deadlock in the top of the fifth by piling a 300-foot homer over the right field fence which scored Roger Ackerman.

The Slayers increased the lead in the seventh when Pete Speer reached first on an error and advanced on Pete Heard's single to set the stage for Parsons' tremendous 450-foot blast to right which sealed the verdict.

Ackerman enjoyed a perfect 3-for-3 day at the plate while John Heard hit safely twice for five of Bangor's eight hits. Lobb allowed but five safeties for Bangor while issuing but one walk.

Bangor will meet Southern Lehigh next week in the opening of the district playoffs.

WHAT PRICE a bus ticket to Philadelphia and a game ducat to see the Phillies?

Not too much, right? Not for one person. Or a couple. But what price for an entire ball club? For the same thing. Pretty steep.

But not too bad, either. The highest estimate runs about $300 — and this could even include a plaque, a token tribute to a championship team.

This is cheap when you think about it. Especially when you consider the cause.

It would be for the Stroud Union baseball team, the champions of the Lehigh Valley League... a team which has brought prominence to the Poconos. It is the team which today still remains undefeated with only Pocono Mountain (today) and East Stroudsburg (Saturday) left on its schedule. The Mountaineers of 1964 may well become the first baseball club in the history of Stroud Union to register an unbeaten season.

One thing is absolutely sure: The team cannot lose any more games in the league. The Mountaineers have finished the league season, topping all seven LVL opponents, including a 2-1 squeaker over defending champion Northampton which ended a 23-game winning streak by the Konkrete Kids.

In addition to Stroud Union's 7-0 league record, the Mountaineers also have recorded a perfect 10-state overall. Rather impressive.

These boys who have earned the respect of the league and the admiration of the community deserve to see a major league ballgame — and the consensus of the players is they want to go to Philly. But they will need the support of the community on this venture. They certainly deserve it.

It will take donations from many corners, but it should not be too difficult to come by. This team has brought to Stroud Union High School its first baseball crown in 13 years. Not since 1951 have the Mountaineers enjoyed a diamond title. It's been a long, long time.

It is not the policy of this newspaper to sponsor donations for any cause which comes its way. But we're going to start this one off in cooperation with Radio Station WVPO.

The Daily Record and the radio station are kicking off this trip with separate donations of $25 apiece. This gives the kids a $50 head start. The rest is up to the community. It's not asking much. This team hasn't asked for any quarter since it started its first game. But under Coach Wilmont Smith, it has gone methodically about its job of obtaining its goal. The job has been accomplished with perfection. You couldn't ask for any more than that.

The Stroudsburg Lions also have recognized the achievement of this ballclub and will sponsor a dinner in honor of the team on June 2, T. Manning (Cap) Curtis is chairman for this affair and he will be assisted by Lester Katz, club president, and incoming president Lester Boushelli.

The Lions already have done their part. It is not asking too much of the community to do the rest.

An estimated 4,325 deer died in the Commonwealth last winter due to starvation and other causes induced by malnutrition, cold and deep snow. The 1964 estimate is the largest in the six-year history of the State Game Commission's annual spring report.

"Although more than double last year's estimated figure, this number is still minute in light of the severity of the winter in many areas and the size of the herd," says Harvey A. Roberts, chief of the commission's division of research.

"According to our estimates, Pennsylvania's over-wintering deer population approached the maximum for the range and the winter loss is no cause for great concern," says the research chief.

He added, "Some deer die every winter regardless of weather and food conditions. The problem is to keep the winter kill to a minimum."

Adequate harvest of both sexes of deer is the key to sound deer management and essential to the maintenance of a healthy productive deer herd in Pennsylvania.

Golfer Joins 1-Armed Dad

A year ago Australian master plumber Bruce Devlin, on his second visit to America for some golf gold, almost went back to Canberra to resume his father's trade. Talk about hungry golfers.

Devlin was at top of the list. Devlin had run out of money after finishing among the also-rans at Wilmington, N. C., Greensboro, N. C., Houston and San Antonio. Then came the Waco Turner Open at Burneyville, Okla.

In that event were some of the less fortunate pros while winners were competing in the Las Vegas Tournament of Champions. Devlin tied for the final round lead with fellow Aussie Ted Ball and Bill Dunk, but he shot a 74 and tied for eighth, winning $825, plus $280 in bonuses.

"Went Home Broke!" "I went home broke if I had not won $1,105 in Waco Turner's tournament," the handsome 26-year-old Devlin was saying rather forlornly while his pretty wife Gloria, a mother of two tots, was depositing a $3,330 check in her purse. It was first place money for the St. Petersburg Open. Devlin couldn't have picked a better time for his first American victory.

Devlin had won the French Open last summer, which qualified him for the 1964 Masters, and now his wife and young son had spent the better part of a day flying from Australia to California to Florida.

"When I flew in I didn't know where he was staying," Gloria smiled, "but when I got to the Tampa airport Bruce was there to meet us. All I knew was that he shot two good rounds (69-64) and now this."

Six-Stroke Win

She had both hands wrapped around her purse which contained proof of a six-stroke victory over a field that included Jack Nicklaus, Julius Boros, Dave Ragan, Johnny Pott, Dave Marr and others.

Devlin paid tribute to Nicklaus "for spending an hour on the practice fairway with me."

Devlin feels he might still be seeking his first American win but for Nicklaus. Bruce's iron shots were straying from the fairways.

The Real Story

But the real story of Devlin began 11 years ago when he was 15.

"Because my father lost his right arm in an auto accident I got the incentive to play golf," says Devlin. "He was a plumber."

"He loved golf so much that he talked more about having to give up golf after the accident than he did about how it would affect his trade."

"I made up my mind I would learn to play so that I could play with him. He couldn't play worth a darn even with two arms — had a 24 handicap. But it meant so much to him."

"When he was able to play left handed his handicap fell to 14."

Master Plumber

Devlin worked seven years as a master plumber just to save enough money to come to America and try his golf luck.

The 158-pound, 6-foot-1 Devlin turned pro in 1961 after winning the 1960 Australian Open as an amateur. He made his American debut in the 1962 Masters but with little success, and in several tournaments won a total of only $3,151.

Last year he did much better, starting with the "Turner event." He won $5,337, with $1,450 of it coming on a sixth place tie in the St. Paul Open last August.

But now Devlin is at the top of his game. His $3,300 St. Petersburg check raised his 1964 year earnings for three months to $9,900.

"I don't want to have to go back to plumbing," he told this writer. It also looks like his father has lost a good playing partner.

1st Public School Now Only Marker

By Jim Shafer
Daily Record Reporter

STROUDSBURG — New public schools today are often taken for granted, but most persons do not know either where the first public school in Monroe County was located.

According to a deed filed in the Northampton County Courthouse in Easton, the first public school in this county was started about 1789.

The deed is dated May 12, 1789 and is granted to five men. They were Michael Stierner, Anton Keene, Lawrence Van Buskirk and Nicholas Young, all of Hamilton Twp. The grantor was Thomas McCarty.

The deed states, "Whereas, it being in contemplation of these five men to erect a school for the common benefit of themselves and their families upon the land of Thomas McCarty, and all having agreed upon the good government and orderly maintenance of such school after necessary buildings are erected, and having agreed to meet monthly and make such resolutions and take such measures for keeping and supporting such school as to them shall seem good;

"Witness, that for the good cause above mentioned and in consideration of the sum of seven shillings and six pence paid to Thomas McCarty, all that certain piece of land in Hamilton Twp. (followed by a description of the plot) is deeded to the men mentioned above."

Car Hits Building

STROUDSBURG — A one-car accident occurred over the weekend at Fifth and McConnell Streets when a vehicle struck a building.

Robert M. Serfass, 19, of Wind Gap, the driver, received a chin cut. Delice Richards, 17, of Stroudsburg, RD 4, received forehead bruises. Both were released after treatment at the General Hospital of Monroe County.

Borough police said Serfass, travelling west on McConnell Street, failed to make the turn into Fifth Street. The car mounted the curb, crossed the sidewalk and struck a stone wall at the side of the Monroe Pike Beverage Co. building at 13 N. 5th St.

HISTORICAL MARKER— A monument marking the site of the first free public school in Monroe County lies on its back after someone pushed it off its foundation. The stone is about three feet at the base, stands about two and one-half feet high and is about 10 inches thick. It is located in Hamilton Twp.
